Product description

The ExtraOrdinaryMetal collection, presented in 2017, consists of a selection of Alessi projects produced using a specific brass plate finish that reinterprets, in an industrial key, an ancient goldsmithing technique known as "Etruscan Granulation". 2018 saw further development of this project which is exploring new possible definitions of the metallic surface.

The material chosen for this additional collection is steel, worked in "grains" and then coloured to create a different, but equally beautiful, "new skin".

After the objects selected in 2018, now the "Moiré" tray by Marcel Wanders and the double walled bowl "Double" by Donato D'Urbino and Paolo Lomazzi round the collection

Characteristics / suggested use

- Obtained through the cold deep drawing of stainless steel granulation creates a rich interaction with light that enhances the shapes of objects. The arrangement of the "granules" follows a geometric order generated by the Fibonacci sequence, named after the Italian mathematician who identified the numerical code behind the Golden Ratio, one of the main principles that governs shapes in nature.
- The Double bowl is available in two sizes, 25 and 32 centimetres in diameter. The pattern is printed on the concave section of the bowl.
- The embossed embellishment finds its optimum expression in the new rectangular tray "Moiré", designed by Marcel Wanders.
- The granulation-enhanced surface is further elevated by the colour that creates a unique plastic effect
